COMMENTARY:

PROPOSAL

As noted above, the applicants wish to temporarily run a home-based bakery out of the detached duplex at 2578 Wentwich Road. According to Zoning Bylaw 300, the preparation of food and beverages for delivery and consumption off-site would be defined as “catering”, which is permitted as an accessory use in a single-family dwelling only. While home based businesses with clients on site are permitted in a one-or two-family dwelling, catering has a special requirement of having to be contained within a one-family dwelling. Although the subject property has the form and character of a single-family dwelling, legally it is a detached duplex; therefore, no catering is permitted at the subject property in accordance with Zoning Bylaw 300.

Preceding the Temporary Use Permit (TUP) application, the applicants have applied for a Building Permit to convert their single-car garage into a second kitchen for the catering business as per Vancouver Island Health Authority (VIHA) requirements. Although on-site parking requirements can be met without the garage, the application was rejected based on the fact that catering business is not a permitted use for the property, and the applicant was advised to either apply for a TUP, text amendment rezoning, or subdivide the property to turn it into a single-family dwelling. Taking into consideration the financial implications and timeline required to complete the last two options, the applicant opted for a TUP to facilitate a small bakery business at the subject property.

The operation will not have any employees that do not reside on the site. The applicants have also mentioned that they would like for the clients to be able to come to the site to pick up their order from time to time and have shown that they are still going to be able to meet the required parking of the Zoning Bylaw 300 on the driveway if the garage is converted into an additional kitchen for the home occupation. Part 4 of the Zoning Bylaw 300 requires that two parking spaces are dedicated for the exclusive use of the residents of the duplex unit. An additional parking stall, which is in tandem with one of the two primary stalls, is provided on site for the use of the potential clients of the home-based business. Figure 3 demonstrates how the parking requirement will be met at the subject property if the application is successful.
